About Craig V. Mehall

Craig came to Marks & Harrison after working as a defense attorney for Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. His experience in insurance defense, real estate, regulatory and legislative analysis, government affairs, university teaching, and business has provided a solid foundation to relate to and better serve his clients.

He earned his law degree from Michigan State University College of Law, his MBA from Michigan State University Eli Broad College of Business, and his BBA from Cleveland State University. He is admitted to the bars of Virginia, Maryland, the District of Columbia, and Illinois.

Craig serves on the Board of Trustees of the Grand River Academy. He served on the boards of the Animal Welfare League of Arlington, the Fairfax Partnership for Youth and the Augustus F. Hawkins Foundation. He also served on groups convened to advise the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, the Fairfax County School Board, and the Superintendent of the Fairfax County Public Schools.
